Really good evening, with good food, service and atmosphere. Had to change the booking a couple of times and they were very understanding and helpful. The steak is excellent, not a cheap place to eat but you get what you pay for. I will go again.

I think the side dishes are expensive, but other than that, again an enjoyable meal and evening at the Buenos Aires Slight problem with one of the dishes which was dealt with by the staff to our satisfaction.

The steak was enjoyable, not entirely sure the rest of the food was worth what was charged. Service was a little disappointing, despite being the only two in the entire restaurant for the majority of our meal we still had to grab the waiters attention if we needed further drinks etc.

Buenos Aires, Restaurant Maidstone. We had yet another superb meal here. The quality of the steaks and everything else we ate was very consistent with our previous visits. The only thing I'd say is that the staff lose interest in you towards the end of the evening - we weren't offered a dessert menu and had a long wait for the bill. But initially they were very good. But as the main course portions are so generous - perhaps the lack of dessert did us a favour.

Buenos Aires Restaurant Maidstone. Great if you love steak. All the food was good but I'd say overpriced. For the five of us the cost averaged over £30 a head. That included drinks but only two starters and two desserts.

4 of us went to Buenos Aires and 3 enjoyed their meal. My fillet steak was not that good considering it cost £25 just for the steak, tough to eat. The other 2 times we have been have been fine though.

Buenos Aires in Maidstone is a great little venue and a surprise find in Maidstone town centre. The decor is nice and not trying to ram a 'theme' down your throat, a bit more subtle. The service is attentive but not too in your face and the food is excellent. I had fillet steak and one of my friends had the sirloin, we both agreed that the meat was excellent and cooked to perfection apart from a little too much salt rubbed on the outside of the steak. All in all, excellent!

A fantastic meal. The steak was beautiful & cooked perfectly, infact all other steaks seem disappointing after tasting theirs! The deserts are lovely too with the pancake and toffee sauce being a favorite (although slightly tight that they charged a £1 fee for a scoop of ice cream to go with it when the portions of everything else are plentiful and good value) Service was good but they were so busy (make sure you book) we only got our bread a few mins before our steaks.

Buenos Aires in Maidstone recently won the Best International Restaurant category of the Kent Restaurant Awards 2009, and it is easy to see why. The staff are attentive, helpful and polite. The food is superb, with some of the best tapas I've had outside of Spain and perfectly cooked/seasoned Argentinian steaks that literally melt in the mouth. We may well have found ourselves a new regular haunt!

When arrived at the restaurant there was one other couple, so would think we would get 50% of the waiters attention!!! No chance walked in and he was on the phone, after five minutes of us waiting by the door he made a motion for us to sit anywhere. The service didn't get much better. Food tasted lovely, main meals were slightly too big, and between us ordering and getting our two steaks they managed to mess it up with me getting a well done steak after ordering a rare and my partner visa verse!!

The steak was absolutely beautiful but the mashed potato's texture was very instant and flavourless. No other vegetables came with the steak which was disappointing (unless you ordered, I think, one specific dish that came with vegetables). I highly recommend the crepes for dessert. The staff were friendly and attentive. I would recommend this restaurant, especially if you are a fan of steak!
